OLEFIANT WOX AVONDALE STAKES. Heavy Impost Stopped Mallory-One Favorite Landed.

Park to-day from a field of five speedy youngaters. George Bennett's Mallory was favorite in the betting, but his heavy impost of 121 pounds was too much for him Julia Junkin was the single favorite to win for the talent. Stand Pat, in the stake race, acted badly at the post, finally unscating his rider, T. Waish. When they finally got the flag the colt was flatfooted and had no chance.

GROUNDS TRAINING NOTES.

Andy Williams Turned off a Good Mile With Heavy Boy Up.

Railbirds at the Fair Grounds track caught Andy Williams, an Inaugural candidate in his work yesterday morning. He did the mile in the face of a heavy wind and dust storm in 1:45, rather handlly. The weight on him looked as good as 120 pounds. The extreme unpropitiousness of the day and the weight on the colt considered, it was an excellent trial. He finished well in hand and not a bit weary. The best judges of such things said that 1:47 was a good work yesterday with 110 up.

Alice Turner and Ethelyne worked a slow mile in 1:51, with small boys up. It was said that Alice Turner pulled up limping, and that Ethelyne was straight as a string at the end. The wind was very strong down the back stretch, and they did not do better than a two-minute gait against it.

It developed that Bill Massic's alleged 1:42 work of Friday was a 1:46 pipe opener. Kindred paced him to the three-quarters in 1:38%.

Mr. Rogers had Fitzkanet, Dean Swift and Cyrano out. They all worked poorly. Johnnie Powers breezed Lunar. Sweet Dream and Kisme through the stretch with the wind behind them. They did not do anything startling. 25 for the quarter about topping them all off. Sweet Dream is very light and thin, Lunar looks none too good. Kisme is in good flesh and looks well, but seems to have a touch of rheumatism.

Mr. Eillett sent Miss Mae Day whooping down in :34 easily. This mare always was a stretch breezer.

Aladdin, the Bennett Inaugural candidate, is not at the Fair Grounds. It is said that he will go to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby.

Jockey Club.

Directors of the Deimar Jockey Club.

Directors of the Deimar Jockey Club held a meeting yesterday and elected officers to serve the ensuing year. Louis E. Dennig of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association was made president and August A. Busch, son of the millioniare brewer, will serve as first vice president Louis P. Aloa of A. S. Aloe & Co. was elected second vice president, and Joseph E. Martin was selected to succeed himself as secretary and treasurer. Sam W. Adler will be manager of the track.

Mr. Adler is an experienced race-track manager. He promises a rare season of horse racing at Deimar. The new track will not open until July, as the Fair Grounds has been assigned dates in May and June. Many of the horse owners who came here to take part in the racing at the Fair Grounds are stabled at the Delmar. Mr. Adler promises to have the track kept in good shape, so that the horsemen can train their nags regularly. The infield at Delmar was sowed in rye this spring, and Manager Adler is in hoose that the entire natch of ground will be covered with a beautiful carpet of green grass when the races open up at the new track.

AYYLUM BOARD IN SESSION. Improvements at Farmington Discussed at Meting.

The Board of Commissioners of Asylum No. 4 at Farmington, Mo., met yesterday at the Planters, Governor Dockery Stting with the Commissioners. The discussion concerned the new contracts to be let and it was practically decided to call for bids on the violent insane ward to cost about $23,000; the superintendent's residence, about a third as much; a barn, $4,000, and the granitoid sidewalks about $3,550.

A civil engineer is now on the grounds establishing grades for the walks and roads. Five cottages are already erected, as well as power-house, dining hall, kitchen and laudry. The State has $25 acres, and when the asylum is completed, it will be a city on a small scale.

The Commissioners are undecided whether to merge the superintendent's residence and the administration building or not. The superintendent and perhaps the assistant will temporarily occupy one of the cottages until the other buildings are ready. It is hoped to occupy the new institution by July, The board consists of J. D. Allen of Butler, Judge J. F. Green of De Soto and F. M. Wells of Marble Hill.
